Collaborative research projects and programs, exchange of research and teaching staff, exchange of students etc.	28-09-09	27-09-2012	There has neither been any correspondence nor any sign of interest from either side in pursuing the provisions of the MoU. CSU is a minor regional university and like us at the time was interested in increasing its international profile. CSU was basically interested in developing a distance education programme this with CIIT. There is no need to renew the MoU when it expires in 2012.
2.	University of Western Sydney,	The MoU appears to have been initiated by Prof Shahid Nadeem Chohan, former Chairman Bio-Sciences Dept). Prof. Chohan had visited Australia to establish some research links with UWS on Citrus Plants.	05-05-09	04-05-2014	Like most MoUs which were initiated by individuals and centered around their own interests, there is no record of any progress whatsoever after the signing of the MoU. In

	Australia	Development of Collaborative Research Projects, exchange of research and teaching personnel, exchange of students and publications and other materials of common interest.			any case the UWS is a very low ranking university and there appears no justification to renew the MoU.
